

Problem HH8.31

Consider the vending machine described by the state diagram in problem HH8.30. Good vending machines give change. Redraw the state diagram so that there are states (how many?) for each possible amount of change. Modify the transition rules accordingly. Make sure your modified vending machine still does its primary job – dispensing bottles.