

Here are two plots showing the distribution of scores on Midterm 3, and then the distribution of the average of your midterm scores (using the weighting described in the syllabus), in terms of percentage of the possible points. You will find both your Midterm 3 and your average scores on Angel under the Report tab. The table at the right lists my current estimate of the minimum average score needed to achieve a particular course grade.

Minimum Average Score to Earn a Course Grade
Grade	Min. Score
4.0	83
3.5	77
3.0	68
2.5	64
2.0	54
1.5	41

If you have been using your clicker in class, you will also have extra credit which you can add to the exam average before comparing your score to the table. If you got all of the extra credit points correct, you can add on an extra 3%. Your current total “Average + extra credit” score is listed in the “Tests + Clickers” section of the report .

The Angel grade report also lists your extra credit scores (clicker + survey) through April 4. If you have been clicking away but have zero extra credit, bring your clicker up to the front either before or right after class so that we can figure out what is wrong.